Elementary School Multi-Age Classes Will Allow Flexibility

A plan calling for nine multi-age classes in the four Princeton Regional elementary schools was met with some criticism at last Tuesday night's School Board meeting. Board member Michael Littmann was the most wary of the plan, which was presented by Superintendent of Schools Marcia Bossart.

"Had I known multi-age would be at this level, I would have rethought the whole budget," said Mr. Littmann.

Littlebrook will have the most multi-age classes in September: four for grades 2-3 and one for grade 4-5. Johnson Park will have two grade 4-5 classes, Community Park one grade 1-2 class, and Riverside one grade 3-4 class.

In the 1994-95 school year, there was one multi-age class, at Johnson Park.

Dr. Bossart said that enrollment numbers in June have been historically different than those in August, but that the

Princeton Resident, 66, Is Training To Run Her 27th Boston Marathon

Nineteen-ninety-six will mark the 100th anniversary of the Boston Marathon. It will also mark the 27th time Borough resident Margo Fish will run the race.

Mrs. Fish, 66, ran her first Boston Marathon in 1968 and has missed only one since. This was in 1979, when she was recovering from surgery.

In 1961, when few people were running, Mrs. Fish, completely by chance, took it up. She was living in Exeter, N.H., where her husband, Howard, was chaplain at Phillips Exeter Academy.

"One morning my husband rose very early and said he was going to get into shape," said Mrs. Fish. "I don't know why, but at 6 in the morning I went out with him. I ran half a block and became extremely nauseous."

Her first thought was that, being the chaplain's wife, it was not appropriate to sit on the curb early in the morning with her head between her legs. "But for some reason I got up the next day and did it again. And I've been running every day since."

Until then, sports had not interested her. Mrs. Fish said she had neither inclination nor any athletic prowess. "I became not mesmerized by playing tennis but bored hitting the ball. Also, I have no competitive feelings, so if someone wants to beat me I would rather they did."

Running, however, intrigued her from the start. She began to run every morning. Starting with a few blocks, she eventually covered seven or eight miles a day.

The family moved to Cambridge in the early sixties, where her husband entered Harvard Divinity School and later taught. One April, he and a fellow student decided to enter the Boston Marathon. It never occurred to Mrs. Fish to enter, however, because women were not allow-

Regional Traffic Solution Sought At Thursday's Truck Crisis Forum

It was standing room only at Borough Hall last Thursday night, as elected officials, planners, and community residents voiced their concerns over the ever-increasing truck traffic on area roads.

More than 120 people from several neighboring counties and municipalities, as well as Princeton, packed the council chamber, and spilled over into the lobby and an adjacent conference room in order to participate in the "Regional Truck Crisis Forum," a special meeting held by the Regional Planning Board of Princeton.

Organized by Planning Board vice chair Alain Kornhauser, who is a Princeton University professor of civil engineering, the meeting focused on the need for consensus and a regional solution to the growing truck problem. With so many people from neighboring areas in attendance, it was made very clear that the trucks are not just a problem on Route 206, but on Routes 31 and 202 also.

Amid all the complaints over safety, and noise and air pollution, the outcry heard most often was: "Get the trucks back on the New Jersey Turnpike where they belong!"

Although this goal was repeated again and again, it may be very difficult to accomplish. As Mr. Kornhauser pointed out in his introductory review, the completion of Interstate 287 has provided a "cheaper, faster, safer, and saner" way for interstate truckers traveling south from New York or New England.

"It's a dream come true," he said. "No more Cross Bronx 'Distress Way', no more George Washington Bridge!"

Although a bit longer, the I-287 route offers an easier,

2nd Man Is Arrested In Connection With Stabbing Incident

Borough Police arrested a second man in connection with a stabbing on Witherspoon Street on June 25. At 4 p.m. on Friday, officers placed under arrest 24-year-old Victor Delcid, of 150 Witherspoon Street.

Mr. Delcid was charged with criminal attempted aggravated assault, possession of a weapon, and possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose.

He was later released, after posting the required 10 percent of $25,000 bail.

The arrest occurred five days after a Princeton Borough man, whom police have declined to identify, was attacked by a group of people on Witherspoon Street.

According to police, the victim was walking down the street with a group of people, when he passed a second group of people who were sitting on a porch.

Multi-Age Classes

plan provided a comfort level for growth in most grades. She predicted that the enrollment figures will be significantly higher in September than they are now.

Littlebrook Principal Robert Ginsberg had planned to attend the School Board meeting, but was unable to because of a death in the family. Dr. Bossart said he had wanted to explain to the board his reasons for the large number of multi-age classes in his school.

She told the Board that the enrollment numbers in grades 2-3 at Littlebrook would have made only one combined class necessary, but that Dr. Ginsberg had planned four to provide greater program flexibility.

Enrollment numbers did not require a multi-age class at Johnson Park, but Principal John Kazmark has planned one for grades 4-5. Dr. Kazmark, however, is offering parents the opportunity to choose either the multi age or single grade class.

A suggestion by Board member David Robbins that some parents might volunteer to switch their students to another school — presumably to avoid a multi-age class — brought a cautionary response from Assistant Superintendent Lee Pisauro. He said that if transportation were involved in any of these voluntary transfers, it would make a nightmare of the school's transportation program.

Mr. Robbins suggested that parents might also be willing to provide transportation.

Positive Experience

Board member Chiara Nappi was supportive of the multi-age plan. "Even if we have to do it for numbers, and we do need to do it for numbers, it should be a positive educational experience. I know it can be," she said.

Several members of the School Board and the audience stressed that the success of a multi-age class depends in great part on the talents of the teacher.

Joyce Turner, a parent who frequently attends School Board meetings, criticized both the administration and the School Board, saying they had no plan, program, or evaluation process for the multi-age classes. She was also concerned that 29 pupils are planned for one fourth-grade class at Littlebrook.

"I would like to discuss next year with the community whether they want to continue to use multi-age classes," said Board member David Meadow.

Special Services Head

In other business, Dr. Bossart reported that 43 individuals have applied for the position of director of special services formerly held by Charles Huchet. Mr. Huchet retired from the District and accepted a position at the Newgrange School in Trenton.

The Superintendent recommended that a committee be formed to paper screen the applicants and hold group interviews. The committee would include administrators and special education and non-special education parents and teachers.

The School Board would then be expected to interview final candidates and select a successor to Mr. Huchet at a meeting on Tuesday, July 25.

The School Board also approved by a 5-3 vote a 4 percent salary increase for seven members of the central administration. This figure replicates the increase granted to members of the Princeton Regional Administrators Association (PRAA) in the second year of their contract. In past years, the salary increase for members of the central administrative staff has been tied to the PRAA contract, even though they are not members of the PRAA.

Board Member Todd Tieger said he would like to discuss changing the policy and untying the central administrators from the PRAA contract. Ms. Nappi said she was totally opposed to changing the policy at such short notice.

Salaries Approved

The 1995-96 salaries approved last Tuesday are, Superintendent Marcia Bossart, $119,600, Assistant Superintendent Lee Pisauro, $105,169, Personnel Director Faye Hunsinger, $93,579; Facilities Manager William Karch, $86,257; Comptroller Frederick Hillman, $62,400; Technical Coordinator Peter Thompson, $58,240, and Secretary to the Superintendent Cecelia Esser, $42,555.

The School Board also expressed its gratitude to the staff members who were retiring from the District. They include, Joyce Warren, high school executive secretary, 53 years; Marvin Trotman, high school assistant principal, 27 years; Lawrence Mansier, language arts teacher, 29; Mary Hannon, school nurse 25;

Also, Toba Hierman, basic skills teacher, 27; Michael Boccanfuso, maintenance-carpenter, 23; Ronald Dale, industrial arts teacher, 35; Anne Dimock, media specialist, 25; Charles Huchet, director of special services, 27, Samuel Ishibashi, kindergarten teacher, 25; George McCormack, science-math teacher, 25, Douglas Spencer, industrial arts teacher, 34, Sally Warnock, instructional aide, 21, John Davison, bus driver, 9, Ann Judson, bookkeeper, 35; Chester Latini, head custodian, 13, and Lee Pisauro, assistant superintendent, 3.

ment ensued, and the people on the porch rushed down and surrounded the victim. Someone broke a bottle over his head, and he was stabbed twice.

He underwent surgery on a ruptured spleen, said police, and is expected to make a full recovery.

Police arrested 23-year-old Arturo Montenegro-Garcia, of Hamilton, at the scene. They also recovered a pair of eight-inch knives with four-and-a-half-inch blades.

Montenegro-Garcia, who was charged with aggravated assault, possession of a weapon, and possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose, was also released on his own recognizance after paying 10 percent of the $25,000 bail.

Police are still investigating the incident.

Day in Court Comes at Last for Case Involving Former Borough Officer and a Music Professor

How fine they will grind remains to be seen, but in one case of local interest, the mills of justice have been grinding exceeding slow.

More than a year and two months after it was first reported in TOWN TOPICS, a case involving a former Borough police officer and a Westminster Choir College professor William E. Dalgleish has finally come to court.

East Windsor municipal court judge Samuel Sachs has heard testimony from both men directly involved in the case, although some witnesses remain to be cross-examined. Judge Sachs, who is hearing the case without a jury, will be called upon to sift the truth out of two totally contradictory stories about what happened on a New Jersey Transit bus on February 3, 1994.

The case is being heard in East Windsor, because Robert Shoblock had testified before Princeton Borough's municipal court judge, Russell Annich, in his former capacity as a police officer.

The parties involved in the case disagree on three major points: the state Mr. Dalgleish was in when he boarded the bus, the nature of the exchange that took place between him and bus driver Mary Hand, and the amount of force that was used to get Mr. Dalgleish off the bus.

TOPICS Of the Town

According to Mr. Dalgleish, he boarded a NJ Transit bus near Palmer Square on the evening of February 3, and noted that the bus had stopped far from the curb, forcing passengers to walk into the icy street. He paid his fare, he says, and informed the bus driver that she ought to stop closer to the curb.

He says that the bus then made a sharp left turn, causing him to fall down the stairs. The driver carried on for a short distance, and then stopped, telling Mr. Dalgleish that he had to get off the bus. Having paid his fare, he says, he refused, at which point the driver called the police.

Police reports from the time of the incident tell a different story, one that Mr. Dalgleish vehemently denies. Police allege that Mr. Dalgleish, apparently drunk, boarded the bus and fell to the floor. He then became "agitated, unruly, and belligerent."

Mr. Dalgleish admits that he had been drinking prior to the incident, but denies that he was drunk.

He was told by the driver to exit the bus, said police, but refused. At that point officers were summoned, and arrived shortly afterward.

The wildly divergent stories about what followed are the basis for the complaints filed by the Borough against Mr. Dalgleish (defiant trespass, resisting arrest) and by Mr. Dalgleish against then-officer Shoblock (assault).

Police claim that Mr. Dalgleish refused to exit the bus when asked by the officers, and then resisted violently when he was physically removed.

According to Mr. Dalgleish, Shoblock stormed onto the bus, and violently removed him, at different points forcing him to the ground, and slamming him against a patrol car.

Whichever the case, Mr. Dalgleish came away from the incident bruised and battered. He suffered a laceration to the head, an injury to the wrist, and a multitude of bruises, all documented in photographs taken shortly afterward.

He claims that his injuries are a result of police brutality. Police claim that he suffered some of them by falling down the stairs of the bus, and some of them by resisting arrest.

Borough police chief Thomas Michaud said that an internal investigation of the incident had revealed no wrongdoing on the part of the officers involved.

no stranger to charges of misconduct during his brief tenure on the Borough police force.

He was suspended twice for misconduct: once for public drunkenness, and a second time when it was revealed that he had driven down Route 27, after drinking, at speeds exceeding 80 miles per hour. He left the force in August of 1994, citing personal reasons.

The case, which took so long to come to trial, will require at least another month. The involved parties will return to court in early August, hopefully to hear a verdict from Judge Sachs.

Bail Set at $15,000 Cash In Sexual Assault Case

After an abortive attempt at a bail hearing last Wednesday, the man accused of attempting to rape a Princeton University graduate student in the early morning hours of June 26 finally got his hearing with Judge Thomas DeMartin on Thursday.

The judge set bail for Zhong Qing He, 28, at $15,000 cash. If he is able to make bail, the judge ordered, Mr. He will be required to refrain from making contact with the victim of the alleged attack, who resides in the University's Graduate College. He will also be required to surrender his passport and all travel documents, as a safeguard against an attempt to flee the country.

As of Monday morning, Mr. He was still in the Mercer County Detention Center.

Judge DeMartin brought a Wednesday bail hearing to a halt after discovering that Mr. He does not speak enough English to fully understand the charges that are being brought against him.

In Thursday's hearing, Mr. He was supplied with an interpreter.

According to police, Mr. He was arrested outside the door of the alleged victim on Monday morning. They reported that the victim, who had known Mr. He slightly when they both attended the same University in China, had allowed him to sleep on her floor. Mr. He was in Princeton to attend a conference, he is a student at a Swedish University.

Police say that the victim was awakened at 3 a.m. to find Mr. He on top of her, attempting to rape her.

Campus security officers responded to an interrupted call from the victim's room at about 3 a.m. The call was cut short, said police, by Mr. He's knocking the phone from the victim's hand.

In court on Thursday, Assistant Prosecutor Dorothy Hersh reported that Mr. He had confessed his crime to the arresting police officers.

Mr. He's attorney, Deputy Assistant Prosecutor E. Austin Belmont countered, saying that his client's supposed confession was of little value because of the language barrier. Mr. He, said his attorney, could not have known the full legal import of any statement he made to police, because of his imperfect command of English.

Regional Planning Board Approves Temporary University Dormitories

The Regional Planning Board of Princeton has approved a Minor Site Plan for the construction of a temporary dormitory area on the Princeton University campus.

The University proposes building 10 temporary dormitory units between Elm Drive and Washington Road, adjacent to an existing residence area, in order to accommodate a larger number of freshmen than was anticipated.

Princeton Vice President for Facilities Eugene McPartland explained that Class of 1999 acceptances were running higher than expected, and the University found itself with a dormitory shortage.

The new structures, made of wood with vinyl siding, would house approximately four students in each unit.

After a discussion in which questions were raised regarding utility connections and electrical and sanitary services, the Board voted unanimously to grant its approval.

Princeton Township Engineer Robert Kiser noted that the "University has to move quickly to have the buildings completed by September."

When Princeton Borough Mayor Marvin Reed said of the buildings, "We don't want them here forever," Mr. McPartland assured him they were temporary.

Early Firecracker Stunt Sets Off Dumpster Blaze

A group of youths playing with firecrackers a few days before the Fourth caused a fire in a dumpster behind One Palmer Square at 8:55 p.m. on Saturday night.

Witnesses told police that a group of eight to 10 juveniles tossed a lighted firecracker into a dumpster in an alley behind the building. The firecracker detonated and ignited the contents of the dumpster, causing a fire to start.

The Princeton Fire Department responded to the call and extinguished the blaze. Minor damage was done to the dumpster and to a window in a nearby building.

A wicker sofa was stolen from the porch of a Pine Street home on Friday. According to police, the $250 piece of furniture disappeared between 6 and 11 p.m.

Police made two arrests for possession of marijuana on Thursday at 9:30 p.m., following a call from a Lytle Street resident.

Police were informed that two young men were acting suspiciously in the area, passing what appeared to be a marijuana cigarette back and forth between them.

Officers arrived, and after a brief investigation, placed both under arrest.

One of the two arrested is a 14-year-old Township resident, whose name was not released due to his age. He was charged with juvenile delinquency for being in possession of marijuana.

The second was 18-year-old Marshawn Ferguson, of 12 Sassafrass Row. In his possession, the officers found three glass vials filled with

$4,300 in Jewelry Taken

An apartment on Lawrenceville Road in Princeton Township was robbed of $4,300 in jewelry between 2 p.m. on June 25 and 2 p.m. on June 28.

Police said that the resident of the apartment returned from being out of town and noticed that a window on the east side of the house, which she believed to have been closed, was open. She also saw an empty glass lying on the floor of the house where no glass had been before.

She told police that six rings were taken from a box inside her jewelry box. One, a wedding ring containing five diamonds, was valued at $3,000. Also taken were a woman's gold band, valued at $500; a man's gold band, valued at $300; and three other rings with a total value of $500.

At the Campbell Woods construction site, off of Mount Lucas Road, unknown persons apparently broke into a construction trailer between 3 p.m. on June 24 and 8 a.m. on June 26.

According to police, the trailer was ransacked, but nothing was taken.

A Macintosh laptop computer valued at $1,000 was stolen from a desk in the Lewis Thomas labs on the Princeton University campus between 4 p.m. on June 16 and 8 a.m. on June 27.

There was no sign of forced entry.

A car of unidentified make and model was burglarized as it sat in a Clover Lane driveway between 7 p.m. on June 26 and 7 a.m. the next morning.

Taken, from the front windshield, were $90 worth of parking stickers issued by the West Windsor Parking Authority.

Someone attempted to pry open the door of a North Harrison Street office building between 6 p.m. on June 26 and 7:30 the next morning.

Police were called when a man who works in the building arrived, and discovered that his key would not lurn the lock. They determined that although the lock had been damaged, no access to the building was gained.

Police reported an act of criminal mischief on the Princeton Day School campus between 2:30 p.m. on June 27 and 7:45 the next morning.

According to police, a piece of paper was stuffed into the opened gas tank of a 1962 Willys jeep and set on fire.

Luckily, police said, the piece of paper burned out before the gas in the vehicle's tank ignited.

Police were called to 34 Leigh Avenue at 5:50 p.m. on June 28, by a man who reported that he had found his bicycle, which had been stolen in October of 1993.

The stolen Trek 1100 was found to be in the possession of a resident of the building

A gumball machine left chained to the outside of a store in Princeton Shopping Center was stolen betwen 4 p.m. on June 25 and 9 a.m. on June 28.

The machine, valued at $900, was cut from its chain.

Someone pried open the trunk of a 1990 Nissan 4-door sedan as it sat parked on Leigh Avenue between 8:30 p.m. on June 30 and 11:20 p.m. on July 1.

Minor damage was done to the trunk of the vehicle, but nothing was stolen.

Police arrested 19-year-old Joseph Bucci, of Monmouth Junction, for driving while intoxicated. Mr. Bucci's car was stopped for speeding on Route 206 near Cherry Hill Road Saturday at 3:17 a.m.

The officer noticed an odor of alcohol on the driver's breath, and a subsequent breathalyzer test revealed that his blood alcohol content was indeed over the legal limit.

Mr. Bucci was charged with speeding and driving while intoxicated.

United Way to Offer Venture Grants

The United Way of Greater Mercer County has announced the availability of $93,000 in venture grants for 1995-96, $50,000 of which will be restricted to programs within Princeton Borough and Township, per the donor's request. The minimum amount of each grant will be $10,000.

The three target areas are: Increasing economic self-sufficiency, strengthening the family and promoting health and well being. Any agency with a 501(C) (3) status may apply. Prior formal certification by the United Way is not required.

The committee encourages collaborative, creative and innovative proposals. Requests should be returned to the United Way office, P.O. Box 6193, Lawrenceville 08648-0193, by August 15. Grants will be made in October. All grants will be monitored and periodic reports must be provided to the committee.

For additional information or to obtain a venture grant packet, call Ann Elliott at United Way, 637-4917 or 637-4918.

High School Tax Fuels Rise in Property Taxes

This year, property taxes will go up in nine of the 12 Mercer County municipalities, largely because of increases in the school tax. By and large, county and municipal tax rates remained stable or increased only slightly this year.

The tax increase in West Windsor is the highest: $460 more than last year's tax for a home assessed at $233,355, which is the average home assessment in West Windsor.

The increase in Princeton Township on a house assessed at the Township average, $157,400, will be $154.

On the Borough's average home, which is assessed at $149,100, taxes will go up $116 over last year.

Taxes will go down $119 in Hopewell Township in 1995 on a home assessed at the Township average of $245,000

Annual Bastille Day Ball Set for Drumthwacket

Drumthwacket has been selected as this year's site for the Bastille Day Ball which is scheduled for Saturday, July 15.

The annual dinner dance is the major fund raiser for Trinity Counseling Service. Jennifer Aldrich and Kate Lindseth are co-chairwomen of the event. Governor Christine Todd Whitman is honorary chairwoman.

The Ball was last held at the Governor's mansion three years ago. Tours of the mansion will be available before dinner and will be provided by docents from the Drumthwacket Foundation. The New Jersey Historical Society initiated the restoration of this elegant mansion when it was designated as the Governor's official residence in 1981. The Drumthwacket Foundation was formed in 1982 to serve as curator and preserver of the history of the house and to manage loans, gifts and acquisitions.

The Alex Donner Orchestra will provide the music for the event.

The committee responsible for organizing the dance includes Louise Bachelder, Karen Beardsley, Cionna Buckley, Sally Chandler, Barbara Cole, Cary Dufresne, Ann Fries, Tracey Gates, Martha Giancoia, Katharine Hackett, Nell Haughton, Peggy Karcher, Jane Kenyon, Sylvette Krause, Laurie Lincoln, Elizabeth Murray, Lucy Anne Newman, Jennifer Pivirotto, Peg Tattersall and Pat Wiser.

Trinity Counseling provides a full range of counseling services to all who need it, regardless of an individual's ability to pay the standard or sliding scale fees. It is a nonprofit organization staffed by interdisciplinary and ecumenical clergy, psychiatrists and social workers from all religious denominations within the SOWING SEEDS: Gary and Pam Mount, at left in back, held a gathering Sunday at Terhune Orchards to introduce New Jersey SEEDS to the Princeton area. SEEDS is a new state-wide organization that identifies economically disadvantaged but very bright 7th graders, puts them through a 14-month preparatory program and places them in competitive independent secondary schools. Three students, Sakeenah El-Amin and Madiha Tahir of Princeton Day School and Jessica Schuyler of The Lawrenceville School, shared their thoughts on their SEEDS experience. In back at left is Blair MacInnes, president of the board of trustees of New Jersey SEEDS.

Whole Earth Center Undergoes Expansion

The Whole Earth Center has started an expansion project that will add 1,500 square feet of retail and office space to the store. The plan includes exterior renovation and expansion into the adjacent store, formerly occupied by Bowhe and Peare. The store will remain open during the expansion and work is expected to be completed by early September

All departments will be expanded in the renovation. The entrance, check out, and exits will also be changed to make shopping easier.

Started in 1970, the Whole Earth Center opened in the small storefront on upper Nassau Street now occupied by Wadsworth's Bakery. Less than a year later, the natural foods grocery moved to 360 Nassau Street, where it shared space with the Sierra Club. Over the next 25 years, the Whole Earth Center gradually took over the entire 4,000-square-foot space it now occupies.

The additional space will help the store accommodate its rapidly expanding product lines.

"More and more people are becoming concerned about the health risks of pesticides and food additives," said store manager John Bacon. "As the demand for purer foods grows, farmers and manufacturers are responding with a greater variety of products. Even with our strict product guidelines, our limited shelf space makes it difficult to keep up with both demand and new products. This expansion will enable us to give our customers a wider selection, especially in bulk and organically grown foods."

Project architects are Ford Farwell Mills and Gatseh of Princeton.

Press in Eastern Europe Topic of Chamber Meeting

At the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce General Membership Meeting on Thursday, Donald M. Wilson, publisher of Business, will talk about his experiences in Eastern Europe where he has been training journalists in the Czech Republic, Slovakia and Romania with The Independent Journalism Foundation.

Among the classes being taught are Business and Financial Reporting, Environmental Reporting and Investigative Reporting, Developing Advertising and Circulation Revenues; and TV and Radio Broadcasting Techniques. He will discuss how democratiztion and privatization are progressing in Eastern European countries and the role that journalism is playing, with emphasis on the obstacles the press faces in those countries.

Mr. Wilson joined Life Magazine in 1949, leaving in 1960 to join the presidential campaign of Senator John F. Kennedy as a member of his press staff. In 1961, President Kennedy appointed him deputy director of the United States Information Ageney. A year later, as acting director, he served on the Executive Committee of the National Security Council during the Cuban missile crisis.

Hudson River Sailing On "Clearwater" Sloop

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is offering an evening sailing trip on the Clearwater on Friday, July 21. A bus will depart from the Watershed Headquarters at 3 and return by 10:30 p.m.

The Clearwater is a famous Hudson River 100-foot wooden sailing ship, the symbol of America's clean water movement. It will sail from Liberty State Park for a three-hour educational trip. Participants will help sail and navigate the boat, raise one of the largest sails in the world, examine fish and other aquatic life, and haul lines.

The trip fee is $85 for Watershed members and $100 for nonmembers. Included in this trip is transportation, snack, box supper, cider or wine, and the sail. To register, call the Watershed Education Office at 737-7592.

Upper School Prizes At Princeton Day School

Princeton Day School has announced prizes won for achievement in various categories by this year's upper school students.

Seniors who were chosen by Acting Headmaster Archer Harman to receive the 1995 Headmaster Prize were Lindsey Sternberg, Jeff Goldenson, Shawn O'Connor, Tristan LeGrand, Deborah Pollard, Grant Gould, Ian Wijaya and John Ackerman. Tristan LeGrand also won the 1995 A Better Chance Award, given by the ABC organization in recognition of his academic achievement. He will attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the fall.

Wendy Walter won the 1995 Alumni Award, given annually to a senior who exemplifies the spirit and values of Princeton Day School through service and value to others. The Anne H. Shepherd Humanities Prize for distinctive work in English, history, art and drama was awarded to Kate Jamieson and Nick Pinto.

The prize is sponsored by the Theodore Rabb family of Princeton and it honors Mrs. Shepherd who taught at Miss Fine's School for Girls and at Princeton Day School for 47 years and in 1967 was honored with a Princeton University Award for Distinguished Teaching.

The Fred Woodbridge Memorial Award, given annually to a senior who has exhibited outstanding leadership qualities in developing class spirit and unity, went to Jenn Mitchell of West Trenton. Mr. Woodbridge, PDS '70, showed strong leadership qualities as senior class president and impressive qualities of fine citizenship throughout his years at PDS. Following his death in an automobile accident a few years ago, the Woodbridge family established an award in his memory.

Academic Achievement

Awards for academic achievement were also presented. Gerry Calava won the English prize and Grant Gould the writing prize from the English Department. Mr. Gould and Yegnaswamy Sermadevi won the Mathematics and Science prizes. Mr. Gould, who was editor of this year's prize-winning school newspaper, The Spokesman, will attend M.I.T. in the fall as a Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship recipient. Mr. Sermadevi will attend Cooper Union in New York City.

The French prize was awarded to Melissa Morganstern and John Ackerman. The French literature prize went to Suzanna Touzet and Claudia Bitzenbauer, an exchange student from Germany. The prize for French and Spanish culture was awarded to Shawn O'Connor, while the Spanish literature award went to Ian Wijaya.

The Spanish culture award was given to Julian Wong and the Spanish language prize to Christine Uy. Maxine Ko won the Latin award and Adaishala Hendrix the Russian language prize.

Mark Rhoads won the Robert J. Hillier Architecture Award, presented in recognition of Princeton architect Robert Hillier, a 1962 graduate of Princeton Country Day School who has been an active participant in PDS's annual Mercer County Architecture Career Day.

Jon Graziano, Rebecca Highland, Blythe Quinlan and Missy Woodruff won the Performing Arts Award for their outstanding achievement in theater. Grant Gould, Missy Woodruff, Julian Wong, Blythe Quinlan and Claudia Bitzenbauer won the PDS Music Awards.

Art awards were presented to Phillip Glassner, Morgan Zucker, Rachel Griffin, Dan Rizza and Anna Mortberg. An architectural model executed by Mr. Wong was purchased by the school for its permanent student art collection, through an endowment created in memory of Mark Winstanley, PDS '90, by his family. Mr. Wong, who also won a Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship and an Edward Bloustein Scholarship, will attend Brown University in the fall.

Princeton Day School Honors Middle Schoolers

Princeton Day School presented special, end-of-the-year awards to the middle school students.

For exceptional achievement in English: fifth grader Elizabeth Torrance of Princeton, sixth grader Lily Stockman of Princeton, seventh grader Grace Ko of East Brunswick, eighth grader Alice Pan of Princeton Junction. For exceptional achievement in history: fifth grader Dorian Batt of Flemington, sixth grader Lily Stockman, seventh grader Abby Kelton of Newtown, Pa., and eighth grader Casey Unterman of Lawrenceville.

For exceptional achievement in math: fifth grader Mark Eisenacher, sixth grader Alison Welsh, seventh grader Stephen Saar and eighth grader Ilana Heineken. The Stephanie Mann Award for excellence in music was presented to eighth grader Stephanie Sanders of Princeton. For excellence in Spanish, eighth grader Alice Pan of Princeton Junction; in French, eighth graders Zoe Czyzewski of Roosevelt and Alex Sigman of Ringoes.

The Silver P Award, given for outstanding athletic achievement, was presented to eighth graders Alex Mathews, Annie Jamieson and Amanda Suom of Princeton and Lauren Welsh of Lambertville, with honorable mentions going to eighth graders Matt Riepenhoff of Belle Mead, and Ted Shoaf, John Walsh and Stephanie Sanders of Princeton.

For service: fifth grader Marlee Sayen of Princeton, sixth grader Lily Stockman of Princeton, seventh grader Adam Vigiano of Princeton and eighth grader Annie Whittaker of Flemington.

Blood Donors Needed

Blood supplies in this and surrounding communities are "feeling the heat," according to the American Red Cross. Summer is a time when vacations and holidays mean fewer blood donations but not necessarily fewer accidents and other medical situations requiring blood transfusions. Donors are urged to continue to help replenish the supply on a routine basis through the summer.

Most healthy people who weigh at least 110 pounds and who are 17 years of age or older are eligible to give blood. At least 56 days must have passed since the last donation.

To find the location of a blood drive near home or work or to learn more about donating blood, or to confirm the dates, locations and times of blood drives, call the American Red Cross at 1-800-26-BLOOD.

Blood donations may be made Wednesday, July 12, from 7:30 to 4:30 at the Johnson & Johnson facility on Grandview Avenue, Skillman.

Truck Traffic

more comfortable route and no tolls. It ends north of Somerville, however, so trucks heading south to Route 95 have a choice of traveling on Route 206 or a combination of Route 202 and 31 to make the 95 connection.

That is exactly what more and more of them are choosing to do. Mr. Kornhauser cited a report, which found that prior to the I-287 completion, 700 trucks a day traveled south on Route 31. Now, there are 3,000 a day.

Bad as it is, he warned it will become even worse. "If only the problem were to stay as it is today, it might be tolerable. But the problem is it will become worse as more truckers discover the route."

Mr. Kornhauser added that talk of increased speed limits in non-urbanized areas of highways would only exacerbate the problem. In addition, he was very concerned over the distinct possibility of truck transfer and warehouse facilities locating near I-287. This has already been planned by Roadway Package Systems, which has proposed building a huge transfer station just off 287 in Franklin Township, according to Dennis Siclari from Franklin Township, who attended the meeting.

Although just about everyone agreed that the most desirable remedy would be for the trucks to return to the New Jersey Turnpike, another solution stressed strict enforcement of all existing regulations regarding truck size, weight, speed, noise, emission, vibration, and safety, as well as those safeguarding historic preservation.

Other possibilities called for decreasing the tolls on the New Jersey Turnpike (unlikely), adding tolls to 287, increasing truck user fees (fuel tax, license fees), increasing the New Jersey Turnpike speed limit at night, while rigidly enforcing lower speeds on Routes 287, 206, 202, and 31, and instituting land use restrictions on warehousing and truck terminals.

Unpalatable to most people was the move to "One-ify" (Mr. Kornhauser's terminology relating to Route 1) Route 206. This is already planned in part with the proposed construction of a four-lane, three-mile stretch of the highway in Hillsborough.

Other remedies called for a connector road between Exit 18 of the Turnpike and 287, or a southern connector between 287 and 295 and 95.

"This approach might be the way," said Mr. Kornhauser. "The important thing is that it not be an interchange. Let's build one that allows regional traffic to zip on by and not get on and off; and put enough landscaping buffer around so that it's difficult for us to hear it, see it, or smell it."

Ed Lloyd of the Tri-State Transportation Campaign (for New York, Connecticut and New Jersey) pointed to the railroads as an alternative to trucking, but he said the states had cut back on rail freight funding. Nevertheless, he stated, railways must be considered as a critical issue in the trucking dilemma.

He added that "trucks do not pay their fair share toward the cost of maintaining the roads, and they cause a hundred times more damage to roadways than cars do."

Elected officials attending the meeting included Senator William Schluter, R-Pennington, Assemblymen Leonard Lance, R-Flemington and Joseph Yuhas, D-Trenton, and Assemblywoman Shirley Turner, D-Lawrence.

Also in attendance were Mercer County Freeholders, Joseph Constance, Jim McManimon, and Ann Cannon. Area mayors and representatives included Princeton Borough Mayor Marvin Reed, Princeton Township Mayor Michele Tuck, Pennington Mayor Michael Winkler, Hopewell Borough Mayor George Padgett, Hopewell Township Committeeman William Nunan, and Montgomery Mayor Ted Maciag.

Mr. Constance, President of the Mercer County Freeholders, who had helped initiate a state police safety inspection of the trucks on Route 206, said that road is "totally inadequate for truck traffic, and it is really a public safety problem."

As a result of these inspections, Mr. Constance reported that the New Jersey Department of Transportation (DOT) will reduce speed limits on areas of Route 206 by five miles. Speeds in most of the Borough will now be 25 m.p.h. and 35 in much of the Township.

In addition, Mr. Constance noted that during the safety checks, "police heard chatter on the CB channels, saying 'They're doing inspections. Don't use 206.'"

Princeton Borough Councilman David Goldfarb pointed out that formerly the Borough had handled these kinds of safety checks, until the State took away the municipality's authority to do so. "We ought to be able to do these inspections ourselves," he said.

Assemblywoman Shirley Turner of the 15th District referred to the increased tolls on the New Jersey Turnpike, citing them as a major part of the problem, and said she would introduce a resolution in the state legislature calling for a 50% reduction in Turnpike tolls. She said she expected resistance from the Turnpike, and a member of the audience noted that the Turnpike was an independent authority, not beholden to government decree.

Although consensus and cooperation were emphasized at the meeting, a brief exchange revealed differences of opinion. After hearing solutions directed toward Route 206, a Hopewell Valley resident demanded, "What about Route 31? It's more of a safety problem than 206."

"No, it's not!" shot back a Princeton resident, who said she couldn't get out of her driveway because of truck traffic, and that her house vibrated and had cracks from the constant vibration caused by trucks.

These differences emphasized the need for a regional solution, said Mr. Kornhauser.

Princeton residents were out in force at the meeting and eager to express their views. Richard Haynes of Mt. Lucas Road reported on the results of a study he had conducted on noise levels of Route 206 traffic between 3 a.m. and 8 a.m. 20% of the traffic consisted of trucks, and they violated federal, state, and local noise levels, according to his tests. Mr. Haynes proposed establishing a uniform standard for noise levels throughout the area and that it be strictly enforced.

Princeton Township Committeeman Carl Mayer agreed, and called upon elected officials to take a pledge to enforce local laws regarding noise levels. "Enforcement is only as good as the publicity or knowledge it engenders," he said. "If politicians get together on statewide radio and let it be known the laws will be strictly enforced, it can make a difference."

A Princeton resident in the audience described a letter from DOT on the truck problem as "very depressing and very cynical," while Lovers Lane resident Michael Barnett brought forth laughter, when he said "As an ex-British civil servant, trained to give the public the run around, I think NJDOT should get an international reward."

The central issue, he added, is "to get the trucks back onto the Turnpike."

Alden Doyle of Cleveland Lane referred to the "horrible, insidious, destructive threat to our society," and Dory Albert, also of the western section, described the vibration of her baby's stroller caused by trucks, as she walked near Route 206.

"It's a shame these trucks are destroying the quality of our town," she said.

Peter Stefferson of the Princeton-Kingston Road pointed out that there are problems on Route 27 also.

"During regular business hours, with trucks coming from and going to the Quarry on Route 27 into Kingston,

Family Matters

Family - love and laughter, companionship, sharing the special moments throughout the years.

These are the things that matter the most, during all the times of our lives.

If the time comes when someone in your family needs special care, such as residential long term care or adult day care, we provide a secure and pleasant environment. One with a warm, friendly atmosphere, where quality of care and quality of life go hand in hand.

We are pleased to offer your family the support of Sub Acute care, IV therapy, specialized units for Dementia and Interact populations, and full time, on-site physical, occupational and speech therapies.

We are a Non-Profit care center, committed to providing excellence through service to our community. 180 residents call Hamilton Continuing Care Center home. We provide round-the-clock care and many activities and special events to make life enjoyable for the individuals entrusted to our care.

When a member of your family joins our family, you will have the peace of mind that comes from choosing the highest quality care available.

you see one truck a minute. The Quarry trucks often travel up to four in a row, most don't cover their loads, and the stones spill out.

"The pollution from the traffic has kilted some trees, and the traffic is so heavy that at least one or two dogs or cats are killed every week at night.

"Also," he continued, "the traffic has caused a 15% reduction in property values of houses that front on the Princeton-Kingston Road."

At the end of the meeting, Mayor Reed and Mayor Tuck said it was a definite step forward. "We are now in a better position to give a formal presentation to DOT, and specifically delineate what it is we want and need."

But, cautioned Mr. Kornhauser: "This is just the beginning. We must continue this beginning. This problem is not going to go away easily."

PEOPLE In the News

Taubu the Little Snail, by Princeton author Carol Ann Williams has been published by Simon & Shuster Books for Young Readers, New York City.

The book is a retelling of an authentic Japanese folktale about a poor rice farmer and his wife who prayed for a baby. The Water God answered their prayer with a baby snail. The couple lovingly cared for the snail until the little snail found a way to repay them for their faith and love.

Ms. Williams holds a master of arts degree in writing from the Johns Hopkins Writing Seminars, where she received the Elliott Coleman Award for Poetry. She is a former director of adult education at the YWCA.

Illustrations are by Tatsuro Kiuchi of Tokyo, who received a bronze medal from the Society of Illustrators of Los Angeles in 1991.

Jason Irby of Princeton, an Emerson College student majoring in mass communications/film, has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at the Boston, Mass., school.

Sara Vilkomerson, daughter of David and Barbara Vilkomerson, Carter Brook Lane, and a member of the Class of 1997, has earned honors during the spring semester at Skidmore College.

Wendy B. Charkow, Landing Lane, Princetnn Junction, has been named to the president's list of James Madison University, Harrisonburg, Va.

Also Heather J. Ingraham, Arnold Drive, and Alison R. Schoemann, Worchester Lane both Princeton Junction, have been named to the dean's list.

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Byron S. Primka, son of Raymond L. and Ruth R. Primka, 22 Pin Oak Drive, Lawrenceville, recently departed on a two-month overseas deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Independence.

Edward V. Schaaf, Tall Timbers Drive, has been named to the president's honor roll for the spring semester at Washington State University, Pullman.

Two area students are participating in the Governor's School on the Environment at the Richard Stockton College, Pomona.

They are, Mary P. Christiansen, daughter of Knud and Lindsey Christiansen, Balsam Lane, a senior at Princeton High School, and Denise J. Ramzy, daughter of Ayman and Marcia Ramzy of Princeton, a senior at Stuart Country Day School.

The Governor's School on the Environment is designed to bring together a diverse group of intellectually talented high school students to take part in a specialized, month-long intensive learning experience.

Jessica Rosenberg, daughter of David and Susan Rosenberg of Skillman, has been named to the honor roll for the spring term at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH with Sam deTuro WOODWINDS ASSOCIATES

DO YOU PROPAGATE ROOTS OR SHOOTS?

Taking tip and root cuttings are two of the major ways commercial firms reproduce stock of desirable perennials. Because cuttings are an economical and not terribly demanding way of growing new stock, they are also useful for the home garden as well. Certain types of perennials lend themselves to tip cuttings and others to root cuttings.

As a rule of thumb tip cuttings can be made from plants that have leafy stems, such as mums or asters and root cuttings from plants that make basal rosettes of leaves such as Oriental poppies or Stokes' asters. The time to take cutting is after the new growth on stems has firmed up sufficiently to snap when bent in half. Depending on the growth pattern and size of plant, tip cuttings should be from 2" to 5" long. Try to take cuttings in the morning when a plant's moisture level is high. When cutting tips, drop them into a plastic bag lined with a little water. If they can't be planted right away, seal the bag and place in the frig. When ready to plant, dip the cut ends into any root-hormone compound. Most compounds contain a fungicide that will help prevent rot. The final step is to plant the cutting. Fill a container with a damp planting medium and rim it thoroughly. Make a deep trench or rows of holes in the medium to avoid damaging the ends of the cuttings by pushing them in directly.

The cuttings can be placed close together so that even some leaves are touching. One or two nodes (not leaves) should be beneath the surface of the medium which is then firmed around the cutting. Cover the container with plastic and put it in a warm area where it will receive good light but no direct sunlight. A rapid flush of new growth may excite you but that doesn't indicate new root growth. Wait two weeks and gently tug on the cutting. If it resists, rooting has probably taken place. Once substantial roots (½" or longer) have developed, gradually admit more air to the cuttings, making sure the medium stays evenly moist and increase the amount of light.

Within the month, the newly rooted plants can usually be potted up. Next time we'll discuss propagating root cuttings, but in the meantime, call WOODWINDS (924-3500) for any questions or concerns about problems in your garden.

Parent of Four Extols the Many Events Held in the Princeton Regional Schools

To the Editor of Town Topics:

One of the most rewarding things about having four children is that I have attended in the past and will attend in the future a myriad of wonderful events at the Princeton Regional Schools. The choral and instrumental concerts, and the J. Seward Johnson Sr. Environmental Education trip at John Witherspoon Middle School, the spring musical productions at Princeton High School, the Post Prom Party, and the first PHS World's Fair are a few recent examples of the best our school system has to offer.

The level of musicianship demonstrated by our middle school students is extraordinary. We are fortunate to have a gifted new vocal music teacher who has instilled in her (many!) pupils a love for and an appreciation of music. It is a sheer delight to listen to those 11, 12, and 13-year-old voices raised in song, and it is obvious that they sing because they enjoy it. I look forward to listening to these same voices when they move on to Princeton High School's award-winning choir.

The J. Seward Johnson Sr. Environmental Ed trip is a unique and exciting experience for every seventh grader at JW. Each student spends two and a half days at the Fairview Lake Environmental Ed Center in Blairstown. The object of the trip is to foster a respect and sense of responsibility for the world around us, while enjoying activities such as fishing, swimming, canoeing, boating, and hiking th Appalachian Trail.

The students also attend classes such as Swamp, Forest, Pond, and Wildlife Ecology, Limnology (the study of lakes), and participate in cooperative and socialization exercises. Evening highlights include a night hike in the forest, and s'mores and ghost stories around the campfire. Thanks to the organizational skills and expertise of two exceptional teachers, and the enthusiastic assistance of many staff members and parents, this camping trip is something that students never forget. Every graduating eighth grader who is chosen to speak at the promotion exercises invariably mentions how much the experience meant to him or her. The JW PTO and the JW students themselves raise money to fund the program, and this year, a generous grant from the J. Seward Johnson Sr. Foundation ensured that next year's seventh graders will also go to Fairview Lake.

Princeton High School's spring vocal music concert was nothing short of magnificent. After a light-hearted "prank" which featured graduating seniors entering the auditorium one at a time, clenching carnations in their teeth, and wearing shower caps and beach towels draped over their choir robes, the choir got down to business. Fresh from their European tour, the students performed a variety of selections, including beautiful a coppella renditions by the members of Around Eight (a madrigal group), and the Cat's Meow. The Men's, Women's, and Freshman Women's Choruses performed admirably, and joined the Choir for two numbers which filled the room with a multitude of glorious voices.

The Spectacle Theater production of "Into the Woods," and the Band Concert were other triumphs. It is amazing to see such professional productions done by high school students.

For 18 years, the PHS PTO has sponsored an alcohol-free, supervised, (and for parents, worry-free) party immediately following the Junior Senior Prom. What made this year's event especially notable was the overwhelming support of parents, teachers, and staff members, who turned out in record numbers to decorate, chaperone, award prizes, and act as croupiers and "bankers." They also had a great time along with the kids. It was heartening to see so many people working so hard to ensure that the students of Princeton High had a safe, fun-filled night. Area merchants, restaurants, and theaters were extremely generous with their donations, and many parents made contributions to help defray expenses. It is this kind of community spirit that reaffirms my own commitment to the schools.

Last, but not least, Princeton High's World's Fair was a phenomenal first-time event. Begun with the intent of expressing and celebrating the cultural diversity of our school community, it grew to epic proportions. The day included presentations by keynote speakers, workshops and panels, a "World's Cup" soccer tournament, a Spanish play, Korean singers and Ukranian dancers, an exhibition hall, a fashion show, the music of a steel drum band, food for over eleven hundred people, and much more. It was well-organized, beautifully executed, and enthusiastically received by students, staff, and parents alike. The World's Fair was a gargantuan undertaking, but well worth the effort.

The end of the school year brings moving-on ceremonies in the elementary schools, the eighth grade dance and promotion at John Witherspoon, and Princeton High School's graduation and PTO-sponsored Post Grad Party. All will be memorable.

Continuing Care Facility Residents Unlikely to Throw Boisterous Parties

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We have been wondering about our fellow Princetonians who oppose the construction of continuing care facilities for senior citizens. Clearly, none of us would welcome as a next door neighbor a densely packed and teeming community with noisy traffic arriving and departing 24 hours a day, but the proposed facilities will not be gambling casinos. The residents are unlikely to throw boisterous parties or play rock music into the small hours.

When my wife and I moved into our present home in Princeton, we were barely into our thirties with three children under the age of 7. However, that was nearly 45 years ago. Unfortunately, for us as for everyone else, time marches on. We hope to die peacefully at home, but we are into our seventies. If we should require continuing care, we would prefer to find it in the community where we have lived all our married lives. We should not be forced to move to Hightstown or across the river into Pennsylvania to get it.

The same people who want to block continuing care in their neighborhoods are, like us, aging. Some day sooner than they think, they may have need of such facilities. If our community makes no provision for aging in place, where will they go to get them?

Of course, zoning regulations should provide for appropriate population density, traffic patterns, and architectural design, but assuming that, we would not mind having such a facility as a neighbor. On the contrary, we would find it reassuring to know that we could age in place, or anyway, right next door.

Loud Volume Car Stereo Systems Targeted by Beleaguered Resident

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Exercising my right to bear arms, as guaranteed under the Constitution, I would like to give due notice of my intention to install a short-range missile system outside my house on Harrison Street. The missiles, which are sound-activated, will be programmed to seek out and destroy any car stereo systems whose music can be heard more than two blocks from my house.

While every effort will be made to limit harm to the human occupants of the cars so targeted, there may be some minor injury, although I doubt whether this will exceed the damage already being done to the hearing of the car's occupants through having the volume constantly turned up so loud.

As an alternative to this drastic solution, is there no Township or Borough ordinance that might be enforced to combat this nuisance? Sometimes it feels as if my whole house is moving to the beat of passing drums.

Incessant Chatter During Concerts Detrimental to Listening Experience

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Since I moved to the Princeton area in 1973 I have been a fan and supporter of the Summer Chamber concerts.

This year I find great distraction in incessant talking from what I perceive to be new audiences — talking during the music and especially between movements of a selection.

Perhaps we need an educational campaign to explain that the interlude is part of the listening experience and that whispered conversation then and during the music itself is extremely distracting to one who wants to enjoy the music. To me, a concert is a multi-faceted experience, engaging the mind and the emotions, and being surrounded by chatter is detrimental to this experience.

Nine 8th Grade Students Graduate at Waldorf

The Waldorf School of Princeton graduated its third eighth grade class on June 11 at its main campus, 1062 Cherry Hill Road

The ceremonies included student presentations of poetry, songs and instrumental music. The graduation marked the end of an eight-year journey with their class teacher, David Heberlein, who also "graduated" this year and will move on to becoming the school's new administrator in July.

Eight years of memories were shared with the audience by graduates Amy Cutler of New Hope Pa., Peter DeLeonibus and Michael Schuler-McLean, both from Princeton, Taju Forer of Trenton, Jason Ganovsky of Ewing, Joanna Hokenson of Titusville, Rhea Parian of Lambertville, and Pilar Fradin and Adria Reed, both from Skillman.

The graduates will attend area private and public schools next fall, including Princeton Day School, Montgomery High School, Hopewell Valley Central High School and The Solebury School

OB/GYN

"Yale may be an unusual place to begin a career in Princeton, but when I finished my training there, I searched for a fine community hospital with a strong maternity program

When I began practice here, women still spent several days in the hospital after birth. Isolation to protect mother and baby from infection was still a prime focus.

Today, birth is a family experience and usually a healthy event. Women spend only a day or two in the hospital and we take that time to teach families as much as possible about their new addition Families' attitudes have changed; and our attitudes have changed, but one thing that has not changed is the fine quality of this Medical Staff. Our newest obstetrician, Dr. Debra Baseman, comes to Princeton from Temple Medical School and from training at the Medical College of Pennsylvania. She continues the tradition of quality that the residents of central New Jersey have come to expect from The Medical Center at Princeton."

Two Relentlesssly Clever Absurdist One-Acts By Tom Stoppard Latest Summer Theatre Effort

Absurdities galore, crackling repartee, searing lampoons, wildly improbable events and an utterly bizarre assortment of characters fill the theater in Tom Stoppard's two brilliant one-acts, The Real Inspector Hound and After Magritte, playing for one more weekend on the Princeton University campus.

Unfortunately, this youthful Princeton Summer Theatre company — mostly Princeton University undergraduates — is not quite up to the extraordinary demands of these relentlessly clever absurdist comedies.

News of the THEATRES

DEEP IN THE WORLD OF THE ABSURD: Eden Heitzman and David Tze appear in "After Magritte" at Princeton Summer Theatre, in a double-bill with "The Real Inspector Hound" through July 9.

The Real Inspector Hound (1968) and After Magritte (1970), two of Mr Stoppard's earliest creations, provide dazzling wordplay that requires careful attention to diction and timing.

Under the direction of Princeton University junior Sean Mewshaw, this PST production misses too many laughs and too often fails to bring across Mr. Stoppard's highly sophisticated, rapid fire verbal pyrotechnics, though this production may tighten up considerably during the course of its ten-performance run.

Mysteries, Critics Spoofed

The Real Inspector Hound is a hilarious, multi layered, intellectually dazzling spoof of murder mysteries and of the drama critics who review those plays.

Charles Perkins plays the self conscious Moon, obsessed with being only the second-string critic, while Steve Zatta is the blustery Birdboot, a lecherous old pro critic, eager to use his influence to move in on the latest rising young starlet. Their dialogue, as it interweaves with the words and action in the onstage murder mystery, is as witty as any satiric discourse ever written, by Mr. Stoppard or anyone else.

Mr Zatta and Mr Perkins, however, do not master the challenges of this material. Both have some difficulties being heard and understood from their upstage location, and Mr. Zatta occasionally lacks credibility in portraying the indignant, pompous Birdboot.

In their outrageous hilarity, these plays call for performances of the utmost seriousness, credibility and focus in order to achieve the full impact of the parody. A successful production of The Real Inspector Hound must sustain the traditions of the highly contrived melodrama.

In the murder mystery itself, the peculiar denizens of isolated Muldoon Manor include Mrs. Drudge, the stereotypical maid, who provides all of the play's exposition in a one-minute opening telephone conversation, played amusingly by the cross-dressing J.R. Jasiunas, Simon Gascoyne, the quintessential suspicious-looking character, played by David Kaley, Felicity Cunningham (Christina Gelsone) and Lady Cynthia Muldoon (Eden Heitzman), rivals in a love triangle that quickly becomes a quadrangle; and Major Magnus Muldoon, "the wheel-chair-ridden, half-brother of Lord Muldoon who turned up out of the blue from Canada just the other day," played by David Tze.

Ian Wood is the proud but completely oblivious Inspector Hound, Nick Pinto is the "backstage" Soundman, an interesting though perhaps extraneous PST addition to the play; and Liza Walworth and Melissa Schapira share the role of Corpse — no diction problems there!

Deeper into the Absurd

The second play, After Magritte, also classic Stoppard fare, is another comedy involving an unlikely police inspector (Mr. Perkins). Here we are even deeper into the world of the absurd, as husband (Mr. Tze) and wife (Ms. Heitzman) argue over such matters as whether Mother (Ms. Gelsone), who plays the tuba and sleeps on the ironing board, is his mother or hers and whether the figure they saw in the street was a one-legged football player with the ball under his arm or a man in pajamas with a tortoise under his arm.

Assisted by Constable Holmes (Mr. Kaley), the Inspector places all three family members under arrest, for reasons that are never made clear, and then proceeds to initiate an increasingly confusing and illogical whirlwind of amusing absurdities.

The title of this surrealist comedy refers to the paintings of Magritte, which are cleverly alluded to, both verbally and visually, in a number of onstage sight gags taken directly from his surrealist works.

The Real Inspector Hound and After Magritte are wonderfully funny, rich and interesting plays by one of the comic geniuses of the modern theater, currently represented in New York with a highly acclaimed recent composition, Arcadia.

This PST production, however, is uneven — at times very funny and entertaining, but sometimes slow-moving and frustrating in its lack of clarity. Mr. Mewshaw would be well advised to provide less creative innovation — such as his glimpses of backstage in Hound and unconventional costuming in both plays — and to focus more sharply on the crucial task of bringing across that dazzling Stoppard dialogue.

This twin bill will play at the Hamilton Murray Theater on the Princeton University campus for five more performances, this Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Call 258-4950 for reservations and further information.

Shanghai Quartet Gives Sparkling Performance In Second Concert of Summer Chamber Series

Last Tuesday's soaking rain, which made many gardeners smile in the midst of this dry summer, did not dampen interest in the concert given by the Shanghai Quartet in Richardson Auditorium, the second concert in the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concerts series. Coming in from the cool and wet outdoors on an evening more like the end of April than the end of June, concertgoers seemed to huddle into their seats while eagerly awaiting warm, resonant music. They were not disappointed: the Quartet, which has toured and recorded extensively since its founding in 1983, brought off a sparkling performance.

The Shanghai chose a traditional format for Tuesday's performance: a Classical quartet opened the concert and was followed by a 20th-century work; after intermission, a nineteenth-century quartet concluded the program.

Mozart's Quartet in F Major, K. 590, served as the opening piece. The Shanghai ably brought out many compelling characteristics of Mozart's score, including the expansiveness of form in the first movement and the delicate, exposed texture of the second. The fourth movement, in which the opening swirling theme seems to signal the beginning of a playful rondo but continues spinning into a meatier sonata form, came off quite well.

The next piece in the concert was Quartet No. 1, Op. 8 Jupiter, composed in the 1930s by Alan Hovhaness, a 20th-century American composer of Armenian descent. The first and third movements were characterized by lovely, lyrical melodies highlighted against simple accompanimental patterns. These tranquil, expressive movements, focused on pure melody, contrasted sharply with the second and fourth movements, both of which were built out of complicated counterpoint. The second movement, "Fugue with Four Subjects," was, as 'cellist James Wilson explained before the Quartet played the work, the result of a wager Hovhaness made with a friend, who thought no composer could write a fugue with that many subjects. This fugue, as well as the quick-paced fugue that concluded the quartet, exhibited not only contrapuntal mastery, but also an ability to harness the contrapuntal texture to create truly dramatic moments. The Shanghai Quartet, which has recorded Hovhaness's quartets, was very comfortable with the work and communicated an understanding of the music that comes only from immersion in a composer's ouevre.

After intermission came Beethoven's Quartet in C Major, Op. 59, No. 3 (from the Rasumovsky set). The second movement, with its Russian-inspired melodies above an expressive pizzicato bassline for 'cello, was especially powerful. Mr. Wilson responded ably to this part, as well as to the prominent 'cello role in the transition between the third and fourth movements.

After the vigorous fourth movement, based on theme that, combined with the fugato texture, makes for a swarming, almost dizzying effect, the audience erupted into applause and would not stop until the Quartet agreed to an encore. The members chose to play a set of variations from the slow movement of a Haydn quartet. This had a noticeable calming effect on the listeners, sending them subdued back into the unseasonably crisp Princeton night.

MUSIC

Franz Schubert Week Planned by Choir College

The music and the life and times of Franz Schubert will be featured in a week of lectures and recitals at Westminster Choir College of Rider University.

The Schubert Festival begins on Monday and continues through Saturday, July 15. The lectures will be held at 6:30 in the Playhouse and the performances at 8 in Bristol Chapel. Tickets for the recitals are $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens.

Jane Brown, a faculty member at the University of Washington specializing in 18th- and 19th-century German literature, will present a lecture on Romantic and Biedermeier styles Monday at 6:30. Tenor Frederick Urrey and fortepianist David Breitman will perform in recital Monday evening at 8 in Bristol Chapel. Mr. Urrey, a faculty member at Rutgers University, is an internationally recognized artist in recital, opera and oratorio.

On Tuesday, baritone Kevin McMillan and pianist Martin Katz will perform Schubert's Die schane Mullerin. Mr. McMillan has performed throughout North America and Europe, and his performances of this work have won him acclaim. Mr. Katz collaborates regularly with artists such as Marilyn Horne, Frederica von Stade, Kiri Te Kanawa and Cecilia Bartoli in both recitals and recordings.

Leon Platinga, a Yale University faculty member and author of Romantic Music: A History of Musical Style in 19th Century Europe, will give a lecture Wednesday, July 12, entitled "Schubert and the Classic-Romantic Poetry." That evening Thomas Gregg, tenor, Robert Trent, guitar, Phyllis A. Lehrer, piano, Lindsey Christiansen, mezzo-soprano, and Andrew Megill, conductor, will perform a concert featuring Schubert's songs for voice and guitar, songs for men's choir and a piano sonata.

Alice Hanson will present a lecture entitled "The Impact of Censorship and the Secret Police on Cultural Life in Schubert's Vienna" Thursday, July 13. Ms. Hanson is a faculty member of St. Olaf College and the author of Musical Life in Biedermeier Vienna. Schubert's chamber music will be performed that evening by Anne Ackley Gray, soprano, Elem Eley, baritone, Nancy Wilson, baroque violin, Ena B. Barton, piano, and Ms. Lehrer, piano.

The week will conclude with Westminster's annual choral festival Saturday, July 15, at 8 in the Princeton University Chapel. Conducted by Joseph Flummerfelt, artistic director and

Folk Music Group Set For Outdoor Coffeehouse

The Stony Bronk Coffeehouse, held at the Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association, will present the folk music group Point Cross, Saturday, July 15. The concert will be outdoors behind the Buttinger Center (indoors if it is raining)

Point Cross, an eclectic foursome, will perform music from Celtic lands punctuated by North American derivations and original tunes. Included is music of Scotland, Ireland, Cape Breton, and southern Appalachia as well as Cajun and some traditional country tunes. The band features a variety of traditional instruments including fiddle, guitar, mandolin, autoharp, hammer dulcimer, bass and percussion.

Lew and Liz Alpaugh, Deborah Foster and John Lionarons are the Point Cross musicians.

Audience members should bring a blanket. The music begins at 8. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children. Refreshments are available and patrons are asked to bring a cup, if possible.

For more information call the Education Office at 737-7592

POINT CROSS: Lew and Liz Alpaugh, at left, and Deborah Foster and John Lionarons are members of Point Cross, the folk music group that will be performing at the Stony Brook Coffeehouse on Saturday, July 15, at 8. The concert is held outdoors weather permitting.

"WHAT DOES CHURCH HAVE TO OFFER ME?"

Well, would you like a fresh understanding of God, and of yourself, and of your place in the creation?

"Sure, but how is that going to help me?"

It gives you a sense of direction and purpose. And as your knowledge of God grows, this becomes the basis of everything you do.

We'd love to have you share in a Christian Science service with us this Sunday.

Weddings

High School, received a bachelor's degree from Embry Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Beach, Fla., where he also participated in ROTC.

Mr. Olinger is a C-21A Aircraft Commander at Maxwell Air Force Base and is pursuing a master's in human resource management from Troy State University. Both are in Montgomery.

A military wedding in New Hampshire is planned for October.

Spies-Winck. Leah Spies, daughter of Emmi V. Spies of Kingston and Claudia Spies of Skillman, to Alex Winck, son of Ary and Tracy Winck of Portao, Brazil.

Ms. Spies grew up in Princeton and is a graduate of Princeton High School. She received a bachelor's degree in Spanish literature from the University of Colorado, Boulder, and is manager of corporate accounts at Cardoza Travel Service, Palo Alto, Calif.

Mr. Winck was born and raised in Portao. He received a degree in electrical engineering in 1984 and is a sound technician for television and film both in California and internationally.

The couple plan a September wedding.

Fallon-Droogan. Marie T. Fallon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fallon of Cranbury, formerly of Princeton Junction, to Michael T. Droogan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Droogan of Doylestown, Pa.

Ms. Fallon, a graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School and Villanova University, earned a master's degree from St. Joseph's University. She is a cardiac transplant nurse at Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia.

Mr. Droogan is a graduate of Gettysburg College and Delaware Law School. He is an attorney in the law firm of Lavin, Coleman, Finarelli and Gray, Philadelphia.

An August wedding is planned.

ART IN BLOOM: Lily Brown, a Dogwood Gerden Club of Princeton member, is shown with her floral arrengement designed to echo a Milton Avery painting titled "Trees." Participating floral designers were selected from various garden clubs of New Jersey to interpret selected paintings with flowers. Twenty-seven paintings and floral arrangements were part of a recent three-day exhibition, "Art in Bloom," presented by the Volunteer Council of the Montclair Art Museum.

ART

The Arts Council Offers Children's Art Classes

The Arts Council of Princeton will offer six one-week art classes for children in grades kindergarten through five. Artists and instructors Heather Haros, Jean Becette, and Aurelle Sprunt present a program in which children learn about history and complete art projects as they "travel" to India, Scandinavia, Atlantic Islands and Pacific Islands.

During India #1 (July 17 to 21) and India #2 (July 24 to 28), students will study batik, snake charmer flutes, feather fans, toe and ankle ornaments, and ceramic toys.

For Scandinavia #1 (July 31 to August 4) and Scandinavia #2 (August 7 to 11), children will study Norse mythology, Viking helmets, castle locks and keys, serpent weather vanes, and labyrinths.

While in the Atlantic Islands (August 14 to 18) and Pacific Islands (August 21 to 25) children will search for sunken treasure, pirates, molas, tropical fish, bark painting and shadow puppets.

These summer programs are open to everyone in the listed age range, without regard to previous experience or ability. All supplies are provided.

Each week-long unit runs from 9:30 to noon. Cost for each class is $100 for Arts Council members and $110 for non members. For more information, call the Arts Council at 924-8777.

Exhibits

Beata Wehr's exhibit, "Small Paintings from Mexico and Arizona" will be on view in the Cafe Gallery of the Arts Council through July 14. Ms. Wehr will host a reception on Wednesday, July 5, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Ms. Wehr holds a master's degree in art history from Warsaw University, Warsaw, Poland. Interested in color and texture, she uses multiple layers of paint in her work and often juxtaposes transparent and opaque, cold and warm. She says those layers are a symbol of her experience living on two different continents.

Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 12 to 5.

An exhibit featuring works by Carol Scott will open in the dining room of the Princeton Medical Center on Friday, July 21, at 4 p.m. with a wine and cheese reception. The show will run until September 14. Viewing hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

Ms. Scott, a resident of West Windsor, paints portraits and figures, particularly children, in watercolor and pastels.

Her works have been accepted in numerous juried exhibits in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and have been in solo exhibits in the Princeton area.

PICK-OFF PLAY: First baseman Kyle Mapps gets set to grab a pick-off throw from pitcher Jeff Tantum during last week's loss to North Trenton. Princeton Post 218 is in the midst of a much-needed six-day rest, and will resume play on Thursday.

SPORTS

As Loss Streak Hits Six, Post 218 Looks for Rest

As the American Legion Post 218 baseball team staggers into a six-day mid-season hiatus, manager Tommy Parker is breathing a sigh of relief. "They can use the rest," he says.

He's not kidding. The Princeton team has played nine games in the last 10 days, and lost eight of them. Injuries have depleted an already short supply of pitchers, forcing Parker to go first to a three-man rotation, and finally, in the last few days, to a two-man split.

Parker hopes that his Post 218 players will use the six days off to rest, heal, and refocus. "All I want is to have these guys concentrate on what they have to do on the field. They have to come out and believe in themselves."

Parker insists that his belief in the team's ability to play competitively in the County league is not shaken. "We've had some really tough games," he says, "we have to stop shooting ourselves in the foot."

A pretty good example of Post 218's self-inflicted pain came on Thursday. Starter Jeff Tantum turned in one of his best performances of the year, going a full seven innings, in which he gave up only six hits, three walks, and two earned runs.

Unfortunately, five errors in the field helped North Trenton Post 458 push four additional unearned runs across the plate, which made the difference in the 6-4 conclusion.

Spirit Still Good

Parker is happy with the spirit exhibited by the team in spite of a losing streak that now numbers six games. "Everybody comes out and gives a good effort," he says.

Batting in the lead-off spot, centerfielder Mike Nolan has been an offensive stalwart for Princeton. "Nolan is hot — he's on a tear," said Parker. "He's hitting real smart and playing good defense. From our point of view, he really should have been considered for the All-Star team."

Mike Berkman, Kyle Mapps and Scott Muzyk have been hitting well for Princeton, added Parker. Some clutch at-bats have also come from second baseman Rich Wright, and promising 15-year-old shortstop Tim Sheridan.

Lefthander Arthur Gross, the team's only All-Star selection, has held down a lot of the pitching duties. "Arthur has really moved into our workhorse position," says Parker.

Three More Losses

The offense turned in a better performance than the defense in Thursday's loss to Post 458. Nolan led off the bottom of the first with an opposite-field single, setting the stage for a three-run half-inning.

Berkman led the squad, going 2-for-3 with a run scored, and two RBIs. Mapps was also 2-for-3, adding a double and an RBI. Nathan Dean and Rich Wright each doubled and scored.

After getting behind early, Post 218 battled back against Hopewell on Wednesday, only to see the game slip out of their clutches in the sixth inning.

Post 339 took a 5-1 lead in the second inning, which became 7-1 in the fourth. The 218 bats made it 7-6 with two runs in the bottom of the fourth and three in the fifth, but Hopewell wasn't finished.

Post 339 went up 9-6 with a two-run sixth, and a single run in the bottom of the sixth was all Post 218 could answer with.

Gross went the distance, striking out eight and allowing 13 hits in seven innings.

Nolan was 3-for-4 with a stolen base, two runs scored, and an RBI. Sheridan had a double and three RBIs. Mapps was 1-for-3 with two runs scored, and Dean was 1-for-4 with a run scored and an RBI. Catcher Ron Iru had a double and an RBI.

Princeton was beaten badly by league-leading Trenton Post 61 Schroths last Tuesday. The heavy-hitting Post 93 squad rocked Post 218 for 16 runs on 17 hits. Tantum lasted 1⅓ and took the loss.

Post 218 committed six errors in the game, which lasted only five innings.

Mike Berkman, who was hit hard pitching in relief in the second inning, made up for it at the plate, going 3-for-3 with two runs scored.

The League schedule picks up again on Thursday, as Post 218 host Ewing in a 5:45 p.m. start at Valley Road. On Friday, Post 218 is scheduled to play at Hopewell Saturday brings a 1 p.m. home battle with Broad Street Park, and Monday is set aside for an away game with Mitchell Davis.

CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN: Princeton resident Jane Skillmen has been elected captain of the Stanford University women's swim team. The Cardinal, four-time defending NCAA champions, will be in heavy competition for next year's title. Skillman, in the meantime, is entertaining some Olympic hopes.

Princeton Area Swimmer Named Stanford Captain

While many of her contemporaries are spending the summer vacation from college trying to improve their tans and save up enough money for next year's spring break, Jane Skillman, of Knoll Road, has set somewhat more demanding goals for herself.

The lifelong Princeton resident and dedicated swimmer has two aims this summer: one is to qualify for the U.S. Olympic swim team trials by performing well in the summer Nationals in Pasadena next month, the second is to get mentally ready to lead the Stanford women's swim team, of which she is the captain, to a fifth straight NCAA title.

If she can qualify for the trials, Skillman will have a chance to battle for a place on the U.S. team. If she can lead Stanford to another victory, she will have spent her entire college career on a national champion squad.

Skillman went through the Princeton public school system as a young child, attending Riverside and John Witherspoon schools before transferring to the Peddie School in Hightstown to take advantage of the school's competitive swimming program.

From her beginnings under coach Bruce Nystrom at the Nassau Swim Club and at the Princeton YMCA, Skillman has progressed to Stanford University, the top of the U.S. collegiate swimming world, and is hoping to take her success one step further.

This summer, she will take her best shot at gaining a tryout for the U.S. Olympic team. "I'm really close to qualifying in the 200M and 400M free," she said last week. "That's really my goal for the summer."

To qualify, Skillman will need to perform well in national competition over the summer. "I'm going to try (to qualify) at this year's Nationals in Pasadena."

Confessing that she has struggled recently in the Nationals, she says that she hopes to repeat some of her past successes. In 1991, as a senior at Peddie, she won national titles in the 500-yard, 1,000-yard, and 1,650-yard freestyle events. That same year, she took three gold medals in the Pan American games.

Stanford's Success

Being a part of the Stanford program has given Skillman a real competitive edge. "It's great in practice," she reports. "Every day you really get pushed, by some of the best in the world."

"We've won four NCAA championships in a row, and I've been a part of three of them. It's pretty intense stuff — very different from individual championships."

Having won three in a row as a part of the Cardinal, and serving as captain of the four-time defending champions, Skillman is naturally anxious about the coming season.

"I really want to win this last one," she said on Friday. The race to the top of the NCAA may be closer this season than it has been in the past, she says.

"It's going to be really close this year: Michigan will be our closest competition."

The two teams will see each other in a head-to-head meet early in the coming season, but the real battle will be in the NCAA Championship Tournament next March.

As if battling for a hotly contested NCAA title isn't intimidating enough, Skillman and her Stanford teammates will have to do it in the University of Michigan's home water. Skillman admits that she is already worried about the tournament, which will be held in Ann Arbor. "I don't even know who will be favored yet."

Plans that look beyond Stanford and her possible Olympic try are still a bit sketchy for the American Studies major. "If I had to make a decision about my life today, and thank God I don't, I'd go on to graduate school."

She is looking at schools that offer programs in Athletics Administration. "I think that would be a nice way to continue on with athletics," she says.

Tiger Crew 2nd Again, This Time in England

Perhaps the most successful season ever for Princeton University's heavyweight crew ended in England Sunday, with another second place finish.

Competing at Henley-on-Thames, Coach Curtis Jordan's rowers lost to the Nottinghamshire County Rowing Association by three lengths in the Ladies Plate, the regatta's second-most prestigious eight-oared event.

However, the Tigers, who finished second to Brown in the Nationals last month, still had good reason to be proud of themselves. In a heart-stopping semifinal race, the Orange and Black came from behind in the last 15 strokes to nip Nottingham's lightweight crew by three feet.

Rowing with the aid of a stiff tailwind, the Tigers took an early lead, only to lose it near the end. But in one final last gasp, they overtook the British shell just before the finish line.

"They just became men today," commented Jordan. "It was the longest last 15 strokes I ever rowed," said captain Kevin Hipp. "We refused to lose."

The second place finish capped a superb season for Jordan and his rowers. Their only dual meet loss was to Brown, they won the Eastern Sprints for the first time ever, and finished second in the Nationals.

Newly-Hired Coach Quits Position at University

It only took Julie Plank a week as coach of the Princeton women's basketball team to decide she didn't want to continue in the position.

The former Stanford assistant was just hired to replace Joan Kowalik, who left in the spring, on June 22. This past weekend, a brief announcement from Princeton stated that Plank had resigned.

"After further evaulation, I feel it is best for myself and Princeton to go in a different direction," said Plank. "I plan to seek other business opportunities. I wish the University the best of luck in its search for a new head coach."

Athletic Director Gary Walters, who now has quickly to reopen the selection process for a new coach, commented, "We, of course, are disappointed with Coach Plank's decision. We think she is a highly qualified coach, who would have worked effectively with our athletes. We respect her decision, however, and wish her the best in her future endeavors."

Reportedly, Plank did manage to do one thing while she was here: fire the one remaining assistant coach, Leah Spraragen, in order to bring in her own assistants.

Plank also managed to change the message on the answering machine in the women's basketball office in Jadwin Gym, identifying herself to callers and telling them to leave a message, she would get back to them soon.

Not likely.

Molly Clifton

OBITUARIES

Former American Repertory Ballet dancer, Molly Clifton, died in California of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

Ms. Clifton joined the Company (then Princeton Ballet) in the fall of 1988 under Artistic Director Dermot Burke and remained as a principal dancer until 1992 when she moved to Erie, Pa., to dance with the Lake Erie Ballet Company under Artistic Director Jeff Sathaff. She began her ballet training in 1984 on scholarship at the American Festival Ballet School in her home state of Idaho. Training continued at Princeton Ballet School's Summer Workshop in 1984 followed by four years at the Joffrey Ballet School under Trinette Singleton.

Friends, members of the American Repertory Ballet staff, and many dancers from around the country held a memorial service on Monday, June 26, at the First Congregational Church of Woodbridge to honor Ms. Clifton and the memory of her talent as a ballerina and her devotion to the dance.

The Molly Clifton Memorial Scholarship has been established at Princeton Ballet School by friend and former American Repertory Ballet dancer Lisa de Ravel. The scholarship will be awarded annually to a promising young dancer in the school. The American Festival Ballet School of Boise, Idaho, where Ms. Clifton first began her ballet training, has also established a memorial scholarship.

For information regarding the memorial scholarships, call the American Repertory Ballet office at (908) 249-1254.

Catharine Urban Klopfenstein, 74, died June 27 at the home of her daughter.

Born in Freehold, Mrs. Klopfenstein was a graduate of Freehold High School and the University of Michigan, where she majored in French. During her junior year she studied in France at Grenoble University and the Sorbonne. Before entering college, she was a secretary in New York City for five years.

Following World War II, she served with the U.S. State Department at the American Legation in Budapest, Hungary, from 1945 to 1947. From 1951 to 1953 she served in Saigon as bilingual secretary to the chief of the American Aid Mission to Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam and then transferred to the NATO Secretariat in Paris. When she settled in Princeton in 1953, she worked at the Institute for Advanced Study and married the late Ralph W. Klopfenstein, a mathematician with the David Sarnoff Research Labs.

In her later years, Mrs.

Klopfenstein served as part time secretary, nursery school teacher and French translator. For several years she was co-manager of The Outgrown Shop (now The Nearly New Shop). She was a member of the Women's College Club and a volunteer for the Princeton Public Library.

Surviving are a daughter and son-in-law, Kristina and Charles J. Miller of Princeton, two sisters, Susan Fallat of Freehold and Mary Penn of San Antonio, Tex., a brother, Martin Urban of Freehold, and nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews.

The service was held Friday at Kimble Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to either the Hospice Memorial Fund, c/o the Medical Center at Princeton Foundation Inc, 253 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540-9914, or to Crosstown 62 Program, 362 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540.

served as a chaplain's assistant and also with the 1129 Combat Engineers in the Pacific Theater, including the Solomon Islands, Guadalcanal and the Philippines.

A member of Kingston Presbyterian Church, he served as an elder, deacon and church school teacher. He was also a member of the VFW, Lawrence Township Post 3022 in Lawrenceville.

Surviving are his wife, Katherine Kenny Clayton, two sons, Kenneth Clayton of Fairfax, Va., and Gary Clayton of Concord, Mass.; a daughter, Karen Fabel of Aurora, Colo., and six grandsons.

A graveside service was held Monday at Dayton Cemetery. A memorial service followed at Kingston Presbyterian Church, the Rev. John Heinsohn, pastor, officiating. Memorial contributions may be made to Kingston Presbyterian Church Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 148, Kingston 08528.

John T. Dean Jr., 67, of Pennington, died June 29 in Chandler Hall, Newtown, Pa. Born in Trenton, he was a longtime area resident.

Mr. Dean was a graduate of Pennington Preparatory School. He attended Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., and was a graduate of Drexel University, Philadelphia. He worked as an electrical engineer at the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory.

He served two years in the Army and was a member of Hopewell Post No. 339 of the American Legion and the American Rifle Association.

Surviving are an aunt, Ella Eberle of Nashville, Tenn., several cousins and two friends, Susan Wright and Bruce Tompkins, both of Pennington.

Burial office will be offered this Wednesday at 2 at Blackwell Memorial Home, 21 North Main Street, Pennington, the Rev. Joanne Epply-Schmidt, associate pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, officiating. Burial will be in Ewing Church Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to Chandler Hall Hospice, 99 Barclay Street, Newtown, Pa., 18940.

Charles V. Clayton, 84, of South Brunswick, died June 30 at Princeton Medical Center. Born in Franklin Park, he was a lifelong resident of Monmouth Junction.

Mr. Clayton retired in 1976 after 40 years with Princeton Nurseries. He was a decorated Army veteran of World War II, in which he

James Shriver III, of Kingston, died June 29. He was 69 and had lived in Princeton off and on since graduating from Princeton University in 1950.

Born in Mount Vernon, N.Y., Mr. Shriver attended Deerfield Academy and upon graduation enlisted in the United States Navy during World War II. He began his career in advertising at Gallup and Robinson. He later worked in New York as an account executive with Young and Rubicam, J. Walter Thompson and the Colgate Palmolive Company.

He returned to Princeton in 1974, becoming vice president and managing editor of The Gallup Poll. Mr. Shriver's involvement with the media was matched by an abiding interest in politics and world affairs, and by a love of literature and language. During his retirement, he enjoyed working as a volunteer for Recording for the Blind.

He was a member of the Princeton University Cottage Club and a former member of the Princeton Club of New York. In 1952 he married Markell Meyers of Princeton. They were divorced in 1966 but remained close, lifelong friends.

Mr. Shriver is also survived by a brother, Charles D. Shriver of Rancho Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., two nephews and a niece. A memorial service will be held Friday at 11 at the Princeton University Chapel. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad, Route 27, Kingston 08528 or to Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Mass. 01342.

ed to participate.

But times were right for change. In 1968, with the edict against women still in effect, Mrs. Fish unofficially entered the Boston Marathon by hiding behind a telephone pole and then bolting out to join the other runners.

When she finished, people came over to her and told her she was the second woman in the race. Another woman, Roberta Gibbs, had also run. Neither knew the other was in the race. "She was much younger, in her early 20s, and she was a really great runner. Her trainer brought her to do this from California, so it broke the stigma a little bit for women," said Mrs. Fish.

This year she ran both the Boston and New York marathons. She believes she was the oldest woman registered in the Boston event. In 1997 she plans to run her first Greek Marathon.

"The reason the marathon is such a challenge is that your body can physically handle 20 miles," said Mrs. Fish. "After that you dip into your psyche. It's a metaphor for the rest of existence; you can go the extra mile."

Another Runner

Of her four children, only her older daughter, Katie, runs marathons. Her second son, Peter, once ran in a marathon with his mother. She said of his experience, "When someone asked him at the end whether this had been his first marathon, he said, 'yes, and my last.'"

The City of Boston can look forward to having three generations in the 1996 race. Mrs. Fish's daughter and three grandchildren are planning to enter with her.

The original Marathon, in Ancient Greece, was 20 miles. Mrs. Fish tells the story of why the length of the course was increased to 26 miles at the end of the last century. "Prince Albert wanted to see the end of the Olympics, which were in London. He was not well, so they extended the marathon six miles so he could see the finish. Ever since it has been 26 miles."

Mrs. Fish runs three or four miles every day. But when she is getting ready for a marathon — which she begins to do in December — she runs eight miles a day, increasing to 9 and 15 and then 20 miles two weeks before the race.

"But the last week you must rest, just do a mile or two to keep your muscles loose."

Her favorite running times are in the morning and at 5 in the afternoon, and she usually runs on the canal towpath. But when slush and ice cover most of the ground, she moves to the yard in front of the Institute for Advanced Study. She uses running, she says, as a time for meditation.

An artist who has shown her paintings at Oxford University and the Edinburgh Festival, Mrs. Fish maintains a studio in New York City. When she is there she runs around the Central Park reservoir.

Continuing Abroad

"I've run along Hadrian's Wall in England and I've run in Rome, Venice and Scotland. It's difficult to run in Greece, but I have," she said.

In 1970 the family returned to Princeton, where she and her husband — both natives of Erie, Pa. — had moved shortly after their marriage in 1951.

"We knew each other in kindergarten, courted when it was appropriate, and have been constantly in love since we were in the seventh grade," she said.

Howard Fish was chaplain at The Lawrenceville School and head of the Religion Department until 1989. He now writes, freelances, and will teach at the University of Edinburgh. Mrs. Fish expects to receive a theological degree from Union Seminary in New York City in May.

She has also earned undergraduate and graduate degrees in art and studied painting in France. Her paintings — muted and evocative shapes done in a subtle palette — are in collections in the United States and Europe. She has had 20 one-person shows.

Mrs. Fish said she didn't begin running 34 years ago with any sense of being the first. "I think it was the same sense of curiosity as when I was 3-years-old and climbed out of the sink to run down to the neighbors without a stitch on. I think it was the charm of moving with nature."

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

YOUR HOME CAN LOWER YOUR TAX BILL!

Tax reform has eliminated or phased out many popular tax deductions, but owning a home still offers significant tax benefits. If you are renting, it may be a good time to sit down with a professional Realtor to see how much you can save each year by buying your own home.

You save in two ways when you purchase a home. Even though some interest deductions have been phased out, home mortgage interest and state and local property taxes can be deducted. The interest on a home equity loan may also be deductible.

Your Realtor can show you how these savings will apply in your situation. You may be pleasantly surprised when you compare the tax savings you will receive as a result of owning your home. As you make your mortgage payment each month, you will build up equity as your home appreciates in value!

For dependable individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Please feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

PERHAPS IT'S TIME FOR YOU TO MOVE INTO PRINCETON ITSELF

Living in Princeton Borough or Township is much more than just having a Princeton address.

Here are a few of the real benefits:

1) "The best public schools in the state." (N.J. Monthly) 2) A real large European-like town to call home. 3) A unique diversified community of people. 4) A very special university with many activities. 5) Time to do everything instead of chauffeuring the kids in and out of Princeton.

It's time to move in. The prices have never been better, nor have the interest rates.

SNOWDEN LANE!

PRINCETON WOODED PRIVACY: Non-traditional Asian or European designed Country Home. Open functional space with terrific natural light. Windows overlooking 4+ acres adjoining the Herrontown woods. 10 years young — excellent high quality construction — beautiful interior finishes — terrific kitchen. Truly one-of-a-kind! Huge room suitable for dancing/parties or special hobbies. Separate wing for Master Suite with sauna plus 4 other bedrooms. 3 car attached garage and workshop. Don't miss it! May have subdivision potential.

$849,000

PUBLIC OPEN HOUSE: Sunday, July 9, 1-4 P.M. Directions: Nassau Street to Snowden Lane, go 1.5 miles, turn into Herrontown Woods Arboretum.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Bayberry Road

On a hillside in a parklike setting in nearby Hopewell Township, this five bedroom stunning Hillier designed Contemporary has a Princeton address. The hillside encouraged the use of several levels resulting in a floor plan so flexible it can adapt to various life styles. Lofty ceilings, hardwood floors, large windows and glass doors create dramatic sunlit interiors. Additionally, a fireplace warms the Living Room, the Master Bedroom shares the third floor with a loft/study overlooking the Living Room and Foyer, and the lower level has a Family Room with doors to a covered terrace. A fabulous custom deck overlooks two plus acres of rolling lawns and woods. These are just some of the outstanding features of this wonderful home.

NEW LISTING

This charming condominium is a delightful combination of the old and the new. The McCosh House of Markham Square was built in 1887 for the President of Princeton University and typifies the best in Princeton architecture in that era. Redesigned in 1980 into 2 condominiums, it retained the original workmanship while installing new kitchens, baths, plumbing and electric service. The entrance of this smaller unit is on Wilton Street. The entry opens to a gracious living room with lofty ceiling, dining room and modern kitchen. Handsome stairs from a small hall lead to the luxurious master bedroom, large study/bedroom with fireplace and bath, on second floor. On the lower garage level, a half bath and storage. A rare opportunity to own a bit of Princeton history and enjoy the convenience of an in-town location. $275,000

WESTERN SECTION "SECRET"

A PRINCETON HIDEAWAY

This unique and private house, in one of Princeton's most desirable locations, offers a delightful surprise. Tucked away on a beautifully landscaped property, the house — a former squash court and carriage house for an adjoining estate — has lovely plantings in a private setting. There is a beautifully proportioned living room with fireplace, separate dining room, glassed-in porch, large master bedroom with sitting area that has fireplace, two other bedrooms, two full baths, kitchen terrace and garage. The property consists of two separate lots, one with the house on it, another large lot which is vacant. An interesting opportunity for someone with taste and imagination. Both lots offered at $850,000
